In undertaking yet further reference to His Lordship the Chief Justice's mode of conducting the business of the Court, we wish it to be understood that it is with both pain and reluctance that we do so, equally as upon the occasions when we have had the opportunity of speaking in laudatory terms of His Lordship and his labours it was with sincere pleasure that we spoke. A perusal of the report, given in another column, of the astonishing and unseemly scene in the Supreme Court vesterday unfortunately makes it clearly apparent that as time advances and the years | which a number of coolies left by the Dartmouth | should turn out the order was not in socling thicker round him, His Lordship, so far from exhibiting the calmness of demeanour, in business which may be expected from him offered to each, and for the women of $58. after his long experience, manifestly becomes more choloric, more impatient, and less discriminating than ever. As a public journal we do not deal with the individual, but with the holder of the Judicial Office; not Sir John SMALE, but the Chief Justice. I must exercise my authority. One of those unfortunate exhibitions which so frequently take place in the Supreme Court occurred yesterday. On this occasion Mr. Gibbons, the Registrar, was the subject on which the Chief Justice poured the vials of his wrath. It being the ordinary court day, there were number of small probate and bankruptcy causes on the list. On the first of these coming on (in which Mr. Holmes acted as selicitor). His Lordship asked the Registrar if the papers appertaining to it were all right and if he would certify to that fact.

His Lordship, addressing Mr. Holmes, said he must adjourn the case until the Registrar would certify. Mr. Alexander always certified. Here the Registrar turned round and said something to the judge which the reporter understood to be a statement that he did not but as in speaking to the judge he had to turn his back to the body of the court, he was not

His Lordship-Well, you will have to do it now; that is what Mr. Alexander always did. Mr. Gibbons then entered on some explanation to the judge, which was not audible at the iewith such expressions as " I wish you had " and Oh, can't you." His Lordship said every paper was supposed to be examined by the Registrar and he certified to the Court the details were correct. Address. ing Mr. Johnson, his Lordship said he had to adjourn the application; the Registrar said be believed the papers were correct, but refused to a public spology is due from either of the certify them. 'It was the rule to certify, and he was not going to alter it.

A bankruptey case, in which Mr. Stephens was the solicitor, was then called, and was got through with comparative smoothness, the Judge morely finding fault because a previous order in the case was not produced the moment he asked for it. He made a reference to the practice before the Vice-Chancellor, and when Mr. Gibbons was about to reply, saying " I don't know about the Vice-Chancellor, but "-as was cut short by ing influences and tumultuous scenes as that pon't, because that is the authority. Referring to a new industry started by Chiness for the manufacture of goods hitherto imported into this Colony, the China Overland Trade Report says :--village of Yow Mah Too, British Kowloon, though perhaps not a very important event is a significant one. For some time past the Japanose have been manufacturing matches not only for their own use but also for export, and, we believe, not without profitable results. The little factory at You Mah Tee has, it seems, been started by two enterprising Chinese, who Plearned the manufacture in Japan, and thought it might be conducted with profit in the Colony of Hongkong. Yow Mah Tee has been fixed upon, doubtless, because rent and taxes are both ow, and the place is most favourably situated for the presention of such industries. Labour dan also be obtained at a very lew rate, as most of the work is done by women and obildren. It is not surprising that the Chinese should choose a British Colony for the establishment of such industries, because it gives them the advantage of a free port, and they possess a pleasant conciousness of security from official squeezes and interference, which in China would hamper their proceedings and diminish their profits. So far as the foreign match manufacturers are concorned. The Daily Telegraph publishes a telegram to we doubt if the new factory will make any appreciable difference to the sale of their wares. for some time to come at all events. Moreover. the foreign matches are sold at a very lew rate. and their excellence has been proved by the test of experience, while the native made ones have to win their way to public favour. At the same time we are bound to say that the latter are creditably made and strike readily. They are, however, roughly eat and do not, we imagine, pack so closely as the foreign article. This is defect that will perhaps be remedied when the proper machinery is set up, but it exists in the specimens we have seen. The starting of this new industry in the Colony is only what might have been foreseen, though the announcement will take many, no doubt, by surprise. It was to be expected that a race so imitative as the Chi nese and so fond of manufacturing cheep trifles would at some date make an effort to obtain a share in the match trade. The Chinese-ordi narily a thrifty people-use matches in a most prodigal manner, and immense quantities are imported both of English and Scandinavian matches. It is the latter that the Yow Mah Tee Company have set themselves to compete with, and their boxes very much resemble the Tandstickors in appearance. They evidently rely, in no small degree, on the similarity of make and get-up as well as on the merits of their wares to get them received on the market Unless they maintain the quality of their mat ches, however, they will speedily loss all chance of successfully carrying out their somewhat ambitious design of supplying the whole of

A letter from Cores to the Osaka Shinp reveals the utter insignificance of the trade ourried on by the Japanese residents of Fusan. The average monthly value of the gross import and export from October 1879 to April 1880, is 22,170 yea, the commissions and profits which have to be divided amongst twelve to thirteen hundred people, that being the number of Japanese residents. If ten per cent, is made, with no losses to be provided for the result is the handsome sum of say ten yen per head per mouth of the Japanese population. The commoditios in chief demand as imports seem to be foreign made goods re-exported from Japan, Japanese goods forming about ten per cent. of the whole. If Lin chanced to see a protty girl, he detained her and made her a concubine. His acts having come, however, to the ears of the authorities. I in was summarily panished, to the great joy of the people. We have just heard that another "great prince" Lin, still more dreadful than his namesa'e, has arison. A fight having occurred between his clan and another regarding some water, the heavens were filled with the rearing of cannon for a whole day, and the local officials were powerh saite step the fray. They petitioned the high authorities for reinforcements, and on the 16th of June, a detachment of 500 soldiers embarked for the scene of the strife. It is also reported that a quarrel has broken one in the Chinyi district, and the soldiers stationed at latter from its resident correspondent in Fusan, Pong-ha have been sent to quell the disturb.

A CHINESE SAYING.

ance. - Courier.

"Sipensis" writes as follows to the N. C. Daily News :- It may be interesting to some of your readers to know that "When the lips perish the teeth will be cold," the famous phrase inspring and automa classic, and was spoken under the following circumstances :-The rising State of Tain borrowed a way through Yn to at nok Kwo. A minister of the Dake of Yu (B.C. 854) remonstrated with his master, saying "Kwo is the external defence of Yu. If Kwo perish, Yn is sure to follow it. A way should not be opened to the greed of Tsiu. obbers are not to be played with. To do it once was more than enough; and will you do it a second time?" The proverb says "The jaw and the chin aid each other, when the lips perish the teeth will be cold." The Duke would not listen and lost his kingdom soon after. For the ten years suding the 31st of March, 1879, the books show a total export from Malwa of 405,094 chests, representing in duty paid to Government 24,57.82,725 rs. The improvement, therefore, over the previous decade is 66:482 chests, and a revenue of 4,46,78,225 rs.-in other words, the increase export is more, on an average, than 500 chests a month, and the yearly revenue to Government has improved by upwards of forty-four lakes of rupees. Among the causes of improvement in this important trade I would mention the security of the country and a decrease in highway robbery and vicience; induce-. ments held out by chiefs, to whom land under opium is the chief sources of income, improvements in communication, and particularly the facilities which the railway from Indore and lipin affords. The establishment of scales at Ujjain, Jaora, and Udepur has been the means of drawing the produce of each district to pay export duty to the Government of India with-The importance of opinin cultivation to the chiefs of Malwa can hardly be overestimated it gives a value to land which to other crop can afford. Count Morenico, a lineal descendant of one of the queens of Cyprus, and who belongs to one of he most ancient families of Venice, is laying claim to vast tracts of land, comprising the whole of the best and most his hir favoured portions of the island of Cyprus. The matter has already been the subject of a preliminary correspondence with the Foreign Office, and the count has now placed the case in the hands of is London solicitors, Messrs. Goldberg and Langdon, who are actively engaged in searching the archives of the family in support of the claim. Count Moranigo is the oldest male desendant and representative of the ancient family of Carnaw, one of which-Catherine Carnawmarried in 1468 Lusignan, and became Queen of Cyprus. Every member of the family has been from the carliest time renowned for his connection and high position amongst the Order E Knights Hospitallers, whose hereditary grand commander is Count Morenigo.

THE DEFENCE OF NEW YORK HARBOUR.

A recent inspection by the Scoretary of War and General Sharman of the defences of New ork Harbour has had the effect of attracting attention in the United States to the defenceless condition of the chief city of the republic. The existing works are of comparatively ancient construction, and are armed only with Rodman smooth-boro guns; which, although perhaps as powerful any ordinance in use at the time when they were mounted, are now far surpassed in range, accuracy, and power by the rifled girner may with advantage be said. TEA MUSTERS. Persons who send Musters of Tea through the Post in Tine are requested to have them made flat or square instead of round, as it is impossible to pack round time securely in the mail bags. It is believed that the tea will travel more safely in flat tins, which are not so liable as round ones to be buiged in. 4 by 3 by 13 Inches is suggested as a good size. The time should not have sharp corners. LETTERS FOR THE UNITED STATES BY SAILING

When it is desired to forward letters to the United States by a sailing ship which is not notified as carrying a mail, it is only necessary to post the letters in the ordinary way, marked with the same of the ship, and presaid 8 cents per half ounce as usual. This Office then undertakes the duty of obtaining notice of departure and despatching the correspondence. It is requested that the letters be posted if possible at least one day before the date fixed for sailing.

EXTRACTS. * THE GOLDEN WEDDING.

It only seems like yesterday : . Yet fifty years have passed away Since at the altar, eide by side, I stood with you my happy bride. And now our children's children stand Close gathered round, an eager hand; Whilst we recall, with smiles and tears, The joys and griefs of fifty years. For we have known the cares of life, Sweetheart since we were man and wife; Yet have not loved each other less Through fifty years of happiness. Whon clouds have threatoned storm and min, The skies have always cleared again ; And fifty years have come and passed, And brought as sanshing at the last. And now that we are old and groy, Westrust in Him, our Guide and Stay, . Our constant and unchanging Friend, To lead us to the journey's end.
